

Confidentiality Policy

To gain the privileged access to information that is needed for International Certifications to assess conformity to requirements for certification adequately, it is essential that we keep confidential any proprietary information about a client.

All audit staff that would ever have access to privileged information must sign a Conflict of Interest & Confidentiality Contract.

Where legislation requires information to be disclosed to a third party, the registered organization will be informed of the disclosure.

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'D Evans', is positioned above the typed name.

David Evans
Managing Director
International Certifications Limited

Tuesday, March 01, 2011